

NATIONAL SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY WEEK 2020

University of Minnesota

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9TH

Padlet Praise

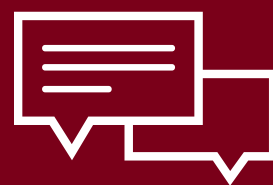

Throughout NSPW 2020, we invite you to contribute to this Padlet to share your reflections and expressions of gratitude for graduate students, faculty, and practitioners in the field of school psychology!

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10TH

Texting Challenge

Participate in this challenge by completing the following:

(1) Text someone the question, "What do you think I do (or will do) as a school psychologist?"; (2) Wait and (with their permission) screenshot their response and share it on social media; (3) Share with them your understanding of what you do (or will do) as a school psychologist!

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11TH

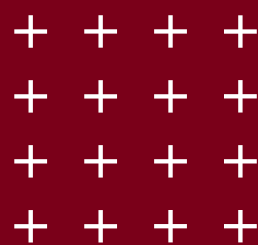

Resource Relay

Share a resource (e.g., book, podcast, intervention) or a piece of advice with someone who is earlier in their career journey than you. Specifically, faculty share with advanced graduate students, advanced graduate students share with younger graduate students, younger graduate students share with undergraduate students, and undergraduate students share with high school students!

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12TH

School Psychology BuzzFeed Quiz

What school psych career path best fits your personality? Take the BuzzFeed Quiz to find out. There are so many options available to those in the field of school psychology so come check out this quiz to see what they are!

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13TH

Feeling Ourselves Friday

Share a specific accomplishment related to your studies and/or practice in school psychology that you're proud of. Feel free to share what others are saying and show the world that school psychs have a lot to be proud of!
